

TQUK Level 2
Certificate in Equality and Diversity (RQF)

Course overview

There were 105,090 hate crimes recorded by the police in England and Wales in the year ending March 2020. These crimes usually involve violence, and are committed against someone because of their disability, race, sexual orientation, religion or another protected characteristic. However, attitudes can be changed through the promotion of equality and diversity.

This qualification promotes social awareness and good practice of equality and diversity within a community, at work, at home and in society in general. Whether you would like to strengthen your own knowledge, or become more socially aware in the workplace, this course is perfect for you.

Who is suitable?

Promoting equality and diversity in the workplace and the wider community is crucial to upholding British Values. Therefore, this course is suitable for employees in any workplace. Individuals who want to improve their awareness of equality and diversity in their personal life will also benefit from taking this course. Learners will examine the effects of stereotyping, labelling, prejudice and discrimination, how inequality can occur within a community and how to create a diverse environment, and how to protect the rights of individuals in the workplace.
